Japansophy's

Japan Emergency Cards

Expect the best, plan for the worst... Japan is one of the safest countries in the world, not to mention one of the most honest. But, the cities are also some of the most crowded, you're never very far away from an earthquake (albeit usually very minor, thankfully), and cell phones and wallets are virtually designed to slip out of your pocket without you noticing. Slip our little emergency card print-outs into your wallet or phone case and, fingers crossed, it will be returned to you quickly. Give the cards to your (young) kids to carry around with them in case you get separated for some reason.

Print the sheet out, cut along the continuous line and fold along the dotted line to make a double-sided card. Since non-Japanese names may not be familiar to Japanese readers, it is best to write your family name first in capital letters, followed by a comma and then your given name, e.g. SMITH, John. Make sure that the emergency contact number you write on the card will still be available in Japan (if you swap out your SIM while in Japan, your usual mobile phone number may not work, in which case an email address might be better). On the reverse of the card, write the name (and if possible at least part of the address) of the hotel you are staying at and the dates that you will stay there, e.g. "Mitsui Garden Gotanda, 2025/06/11 - 2025/06/17".

Name /
名前: _____

Nationality /
国籍: _____

Emergency contact /
緊急連絡先: _____

_____

Address in Japan, dates / 日本での住所、日付

- _____
  _____ , _____ - _____
- _____
  _____ , _____ - _____
- _____
  _____ , _____ - _____

Name /
名前: _____

Nationality /
国籍: _____

Emergency contact /
緊急連絡先: _____

_____

Address in Japan, dates / 日本での住所、日付

- _____
  _____ , _____ - _____
- _____
  _____ , _____ - _____
- _____
  _____ , _____ - _____

Name /
名前: _____

Nationality /
国籍: _____

Emergency contact /
緊急連絡先: _____

_____

Address in Japan, dates / 日本での住所、日付

- _____
  _____ , _____ - _____
- _____
  _____ , _____ - _____
- _____
  _____ , _____ - _____

Name /
名前: _____

Nationality /
国籍: _____

Emergency contact /
緊急連絡先: _____

_____

Address in Japan, dates / 日本での住所、日付

- _____
  _____ , _____ - _____
- _____
  _____ , _____ - _____
- _____
  _____ , _____ - _____