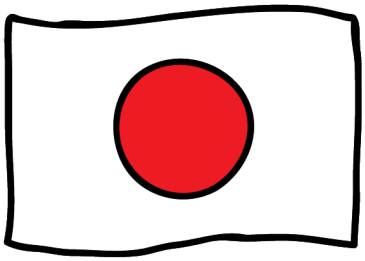
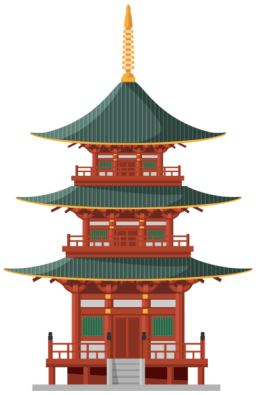
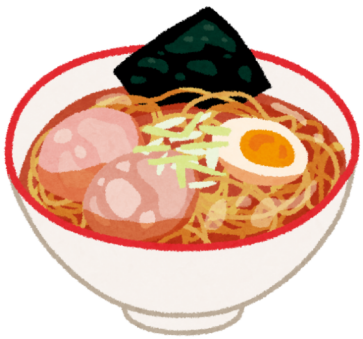
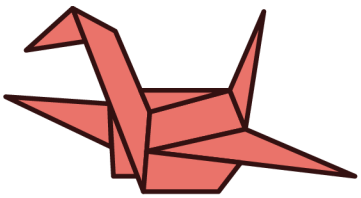
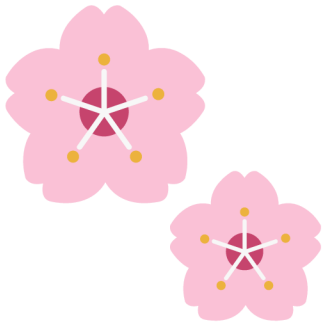
I Spy Japan!

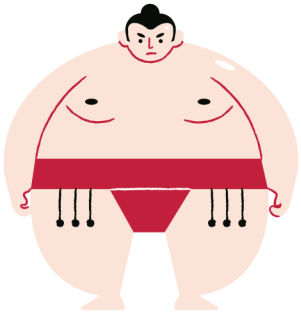
Keeping the kids entertained in Japan will be no big challenge, but our Japan bingo card will make exploring a new country and culture even more fun, motivating little travelers to observe their surroundings and complete their check list. We hope that the two different versions don't spark too much sibling rivalry - they can also be used together as one mega-card!


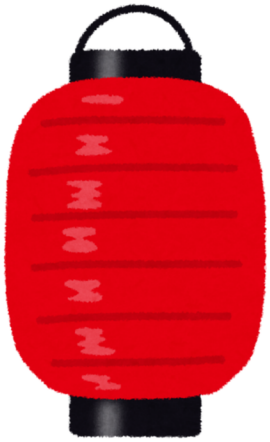












Tip: If you print smaller versions of the cards (e.g. two to a page), laminate them and use with a wipeable pen, they will be more portable and can be swapped between family members for a second round of Japan bingo.
